BULLET IN HIP

Gabe Fletcher Shot Last Night in Paducah.

Will Stephenson, Who Did the Shooting Made His Escape.

Gabe Fletcher, a driver, was shot about 8:30 o'clock last night near Ninth and Boyd streets by Will Stephenson, alias Stephenson, the bullet striking him in the right leg just below the hip.

He claims that he was in the house with Signora Tyson and Alberta Goldsmith and Stephenson, who went inside, asked for his hat, which was inside. Fletcher claims he took him the hat on the outside, and as he handed it to him, Stephenson pulled a pistol and shot him and ran.

Stephenson made his escape and his story cannot be learned, but Fletcher's wound is not serious.

SEVEN ARE DROWNED

A Skiff Near Hickman Sucked Under a Drift Pile.

Three Women and Four Men Were Carried Under and Lost Their Lives.

NO BODIES RECOVERED

Hickman, Ky., Feb. 28.—One of the most horrible accidents in the history of this section occurred last night a short distance below this place.

Three women and four men left the residence of a Mrs. Cooper, where they had spent the evening.

They succeeded in getting almost to their destination in the backwater, when about forty yards from where they were making for a landing, the current in the turbulent Mississippi caught their frail skiff and whirled it under a drift pile.

The women were the Misses Hubbard and the names of the men have not been learned.

None of the bodies have yet been recovered, and the river is in such a condition that they cannot be searched for.

SALOON BRAWL

Trouble in Joppa Yesterday Over a Stove Door.

Negro May Die of Wounds Inflicted by a White Man.

There was a serious cutting scrape at Joppa, Ill., yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, the result of a quarrel over the opening of a stove door in a saloon.

There was a crowd of loungers in the saloon, among them being Walter Harvey, colored, Oscar Shirk and Joe Leech, white. Shirk opened a stove door which the negro had closed, and the negro arose from his seat and with a defiant expression on his face closed it again. Shirk opened the door again and Harvey threatened to kill the next man who reopened it. Shirk in defiance repeated his act and the negro struck him in the face. Shirk returned the blow and knocked the negro down, and as he arose Joe Leech interfered and stabbed and negro in the lungs. The knife penetrated the lung and made a serious and probably fatal wound. Leech was taken before a magistrate and released on the plea of defending Shirk's life. The negro was in a very serious condition at last reports and little hope is given out for his recovery.

CRAZY KOONTZ.

HE WRITES THE POLICE THAT HE MUST HAVE HIS PISTOL.

Franklin B. Koontz, a mulatto who has been in the penitentiary a time or two, once sent up from Paducah and always carries with him a quantity of blank checks which he fills out for fabulous amounts to make an impression on strange negroes, has written Chief of Police Collins that he wants a 32-calibre pistol belonging to him which the officers have, and that if it isn't sent to him he will take the case immediately to the supreme court at Frankfort, and also lay the matter before Governor Beckham. Koontz claims to be a deputy sheriff, at Memphis a present, but is evidently only crazy. He always has a lot of cheek but was never convicted of forgery because the names he signs to them are all fictitious. He was run out of Paducah a short time ago and now writes back for his pistol. The officers will let him take his case to the supreme court at Frankfort.

NO NEW CASES.—There have been no new cases of smallpox reported in the county today and the health officer states that several cases at Tyler will be discharged today or tomorrow, and the quarantine from the houses raised.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

It Will be Ready to be Opened About August 1st.

No Provision Yet Made for the Initial Installment of the Books.

WHEN PRESENT BOARD RETIRES

A question that confronts the public library board is where to get the first installment of books when the building is ready. It is probable that donations of books and money with which to purchase them will have to be asked in order to get a start.

The building is to be ready by August 1, and by that time the committee expects to have all the fixtures and furniture in, and what books are then on hand. Some of the books have already been donated, several by Captain H. C. West several months ago, and about 175 by Senator J. C. S. Blackburn, of Washington, relating to the various departments of government, which were received yesterday and are now in the hands of the committee.

When the library building is completed, the present board, which is only a building committee, retires and Mayor Yeiser appoints a new board, consisting of five men and two ladies, who shall have the management of the library. These choose a librarian, for which position there are now a number of prospective applicants.

The building is to cost $30,000, of the $35,000 given by Mr. Andrew Carnegie, and the remainder is to be used in furnishing it and beautifying the yard. It is expected that the city will make the promised appropriation of $3500 this year, which will give the board the necessary funds to run the library from the time it is opened until the next appropriation, and purchase books. The intention is to use all over the necessary running expenses for books, and it is thought that $1,800 a year will be ample for running it, leaving about $1500 a year to spend for books.

Work on the building has been slow for the past several months on account of the bad weather and the inability to get stone, but the outlook is for better progress this spring.

SPECIAL ELECTION

Ordinance to be Drafted by Solicitor Worton.

A Test Case to be Made if Bonds Are Issued.

City Solicitor J. M. Worton has agreed to draw up an ordinance providing for a special election to be held soon in order to settle the question of issuing bonds with which to build a charity hospital.

The McCracken County Medical society recently agreed to recommend such an ordinance and Solicitor Worton agreed to prepare the ordinance, which will probably be finished by Monday night, when it is intended that it be placed before the council for action.

"We have decided to make a test case of this and when the council and board of aldermen pass the ordinance ordering the election, which we have been assured will be done," a prominent physician said this morning, "the city will go ahead with the election and someone will be secured to enjoin the city from issuing the bonds, if the people vote for the charity hospital. This will take the matter to the court of appeals, and we feel that we will probably be sustained in our contention that we can legally hold a special election for issuing such bonds. The constitution remains silent on the subject and the case has been decided in other cities both ways."

Mrs. George Nagel and Mrs. William Seike of Louisville, who have been visiting Mrs. Harry Meyer, returned home at noon today.

WEEK'S NEWS IN THE BUSINESS WORLD.

Clearings this week	$518,779
Same week last year	436,177
Increase	82,602

Bank clearings continue to show a big increase over last year, the increase this week amounting to about 30 per cent again.

Business has been some better this week. The weather, while a big factor, did not hurt business as badly as the week of snow.

Business with the railroads continues very heavy, and the congestion that has existed for some time has not improved very much. The Illinois Central and N. O. and St. L. are both handling lots of freight.

The woodworking concerns, the saddlery and harness houses and wholesalers in general report business good.

The canning factory is now making contracts for tomatoes for the coming season, and expects to have contracts for about 500 acres of the fruit this year.

The Seacoast Mineral Co. made an experimental run one day the past week and found the plant in very good condition. It is not known just when the plant will be run regularly.

Mr. M. Bloom Handsomely Remembered by Congregation.

Large Crowd Present at Temple Israel at the Services Last Night.

As a feature of the services last evening at Temple Israel Major M. Bloom, one of the most popular members of the congregation, and a gentleman liked and respected by everybody in Paducah who knows him, was presented with a handsome loving cup in commemoration of his 75th birthday. Major Bloom for fifteen years has been president of the congregation in Paducah, and is a man whose intelligence, energy and popularity have meant much for the success of the congregation and church.

The congregation, as a token of its appreciation for the years of faithful service, presented Major Bloom last night with this handsome silver loving cup, standing fifteen inches high on an ebony base, with stag-horn handles, and inscribed as follows:

"Presented to our beloved president, Moses Bloom, on his 75th birthday by Temple Israel, a token of esteem and affection. Paducah, Ky., Feb. 27, 1903."

Mr. Sol Dreyfus made the presentation speech, to which Major Bloom made a modest but fitting response. The Temple was filled with people, and was appropriately decorated. Major Bloom is one of Paducah's most successful and honored citizens, and a host of friends will join his congregation in wishing him many more years of usefulness and happiness.

POLICE WORK.

THEY MAKE ABOUT 150 ARRESTS DURING THE MONTH.

The police have done good work this month, considering that it is the shortest in the year and has been productive of much bad weather. The number of arrests with today yet to be heard from, is 147. Suspects and vagabonds came in for an unusual share of attention and many of those who had refused to work are now on the streets working for the city.

The offenses for which arrests were made are as follows: Breach of the peace 35, disorderly conduct 15, drunk and disorderly 10, drunk 13, insulting language 1, petty larceny 8, deserter from United States army 1, immorality 9, malicious cutting 3, obtaining money by false pretenses 2, carrying concealed weapons 8, suspected robbery 1, suspects 8, gaming 11, presenting pistol at another 2, use of profane language 1, housebreaking 1, suffering gaming 1, vagrancy 12, disorderly house 1, robbery 1, assault with intent to kill 1, and breach of ordinance 1; total 147.

Patrol Driver Anstin has had a busy month, as in addition to the regular runs for the department, he went after many charity donations tendered the authorities to use in relieving distress.

FESTIVAL COMMITTEE.

SACHEM RHODES HAS APPOINTED THE MEMBERS TO ARRANGE FOR IT.

Sachem H. O. Rhodes, of the Red Men, last night at the regular meeting appointed the following executive committee to arrange for the festival in October: Messrs. James M. Lang, J. J. Frennilleh, Wm. Farley, C. E. Whitesides, L. L. Bebout, Al Foreman, Melvin Wallerstein and Harry Rhodes.

The committee will hold its first meeting Wednesday, but as there is plenty of time the subcommittees will not be appointed at present. The Red Men intend to make their festival, which is to last a week, a great success, and work towards that end will begin at once.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

Mrs. Mary O. Hahn, No. 2022 Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes: "For two years I have been troubled with pimples caused by constipation of the liver. I had dizzy spells at times, pains across my back and a tired, heavy feeling with loss of appetite and nervousness. My family physician prescribed some liver tablets which certainly did not help me in the least. I took Apollinaris and other mineral waters, but my complexion became more yellow and my general health worse. Reading one of your little booklets, I decided to give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin a trial and on the 14th day, after taking only one bottle, I feel like a new woman. I have as good as lost the right remedy. I keep taking it for general work, when I consider myself completely cured. My skin is white and smooth as a baby's and I feel in excellent health and spirits, thanks to your remedy."

WOODEN CULVERTS.

THE COUNTY WILL DO AWAY WITH THEM ALL THIS SUMMER.

County Road Supervisor E. B. Johnson stated today that one of the improvements contemplated by the county in its road work this year is to do away with the numerous wooden culverts on all the roads, and substitute brick and concrete for them. It is estimated that the total cost will not be over $5,000, and the improvements will last many years, while the wooden culverts cost a large amount of money every year and soon rot or are washed away.

WEAK AND LOW SPIRITED.

A Correspondent Thus Describes His Experience.

"I can strongly recommend Herbine as a medicine of remarkable efficacy for indigestion, loss of appetite, sour taste in the mouth, papitation, headache, drowsiness after meals with distressing mental depressions and low spirits. Herbine must be a unique preparation for cases such as mine, for a few doses entirely removed my complaint. I wonder at people going on suffering or spending their money on worthless things, when Herbine is procurable, and so cheap." 50c a bottle. Sold by DuBois, Kolb & Co.

FURTHER DETAILS.

THOMAS FERGUSON IS NOT BELIEVED TO BE BADLY INJURED.

Further details of the shooting at Hitlerman's Landing, below Jopps, Ill., are given in the Metropolis papers. It is said that Ferguson used some offensive language towards a young lady whom Renben Garrett had accompanied to a dance, and when Garrett asked about it Ferguson attempted to lick him, and was shot in the thigh for his trouble.

CANCER CURED.

Mr. W. W. Pickett, Smithfield, Ill., writes, September 10, 1901: "I had been suffering several years with a cancer on my face, which gave me great annoyance and unbearable itching. I was using Ballard's Snow Liniment for a sore leg, and through an accident, I rubbed some of the liniment on the cancer, and as it gave me almost instant relief, I decided to continue to use the liniment on the cancer. In a short time the cancer came out, my face healed up and there is not the slightest scar left. I have implicit faith in the merits of this preparation, and it cannot be too highly recommended." 25c, 50c and $1. Sold by DuBois, Kolb & Co.

JOE CAMPBELL STABBED.

Mayfield, Ky., Feb. 28—Joe Campbell, the man who was arrested for horse stealing a short time ago and married in jail to a young lady of Water Valley after being held to the grand jury, was stabbed in the county jail here by Clarence Wilford, another prisoner. It is not thought that the wounds are serious.

Theatrical Notes.

Next week at The Kentucky.

Monday night, Audrey with Miss Eleanor Robson as "Audrey."

Tuesday night, Miss Adelaide Thurston in "At Cozy Corners."

Saturday matinee and night, "Maloney's Wedding Day."

So many words of hearty praise and cheery encomiums have been penned regarding Eleanor Robson's impersonation of Mary Johnston's "Audrey," that theatergoers of this city are going to be considerably surprised if they are not served with a delicious dramatic treat when Harriet Ford and E. F. Boddington's dramatization of Miss Johnston's novel is presented in this city on Monday night at The Kentucky. Miss Robson three short years ago was entirely unknown and in a single night she established herself in New York as the sensation of the day. Her impersonation of Boula in "Arizona" was one of the most surprising successes that an unknown actress had ever enjoyed in New York. Then following her astonishing hit as Constance in Browning's "In A Balcony," with Otis Skinner and Mrs. Le Moyne; then came her Flossie Williams in "Unleavened Bread," to be followed by Mile. de la Vire in "A Gentleman of France." The verdict of Miss Robson's Audrey is very well summed up by Louis De Foe, the dramatic critic of the New York World, who said: "Rarely has an actress reached Broadway who has such a sweet and winning personality, such a charming face and pretty figure, and who—and this is her greatest recommendation—speaks the English language so musically and so well."

"At Cozy Corners" with Adelaide Thurston in the star role is promised as a rare dramatic treat at The Kentucky Tuesday night, March 3. Miss Thurston has traveled very extensively this year both north and south, and has attracted more than usual attention. She has held public receptions on the stages of the theatres in many of the cities where she has played. She has been extensively interviewed and pictured by the newspaper writers.

Al H. Wilson, justly termed the Golden Voiced Singer, has six new songs this season which he introduced in "A Prince of Tatters," Sidney R. Ellis' romantic play. They are "The Winding of the Yarn," "Whispering Breeze," "The Echo," "Memory," "The Mermaid and the Buccaneer" and "When Your Ship Comes Home." All are of that catchy kind and immensely popular.

The London and New York success, "Arizona," Augustus Thomas' powerful play, is conceded to be the best of all the clever dramatic offerings from the creative brain of this brilliant writer. This season's acting company is made up of many of the players who added to the artistic success of the New York engagement, and are especially adapted to the parts assigned them. "Arizona" is splendidly cast and sumptuously staged, which is a characteristic of all Kirke La Shelle's shows.

Among the brightest musical numbers and there are many in the production of Rice's "Show Girl," which is to be one of the leading attractions of The Kentucky soon, are "Spotless Town," "Something Perhaps," "That's the Way of a Sailor," "Love Is Just the Same," and "The Fire Flies." All these will be whistled by the small boys here as they have been whistled in every place where this gorgeous production of comedy opera has been heard. It is seldom that so many bright musical numbers are interpolated in any one production, but Manager Rice is one of those producers who believes that there cannot be too much of a good thing. Since being on tour, "The Show Girl" has played to phenomenal business, in fact far ahead of the most hopeful expectations of its managers.

The Grace Hayward company last night gave a creditable presentation of the play, "Denise." The attendance was fair and the play excellent. The specialties are first class and always new. Last night an unusual song on Paducah was sung in which Hop Little, Commodore Given Fowler, Hon. Charles Reed, Connelman Joe Potter and the charity hospital, market house and other things of public interest were featured. The song will be repeated tonight, probably, by request. Tonight the company closes with "The Belle of Richmond."

The Week In Society.

IN LENTEN-TIME.

Society—that giddy lass,
Now scorns her cherished pastime,
Oblivion holds her rainbow frocks,
For now 'tis Pleasure's fest-time.
Demurely now to church she waits,
In sober guise and simple;
Faithful one would think converted quite,
Did not her rapt face gain respite
In one rebellious dimple!

—Richmond Dispatch.

A QUIET OUTLOOK.

This week marks the beginning of Lent, and society consequently has curtailed its pleasures somewhat. Even the two days before Ash Wednesday, however, were not very crowded ones. There have been several pleasant events during the week, and a repertoire company at The Kentucky has helped to fill in, so those who do not keep Lent and are not feeling the need of a "rest cure" just now have managed to keep pleasantly occupied. There are only club meetings for the coming week so far, and these will become a popular diversion in the Lenten quietude.

"Audrey" and Adelaide Thurston at The Kentucky Monday and Tuesday promise interest for the theatergoers.

A PRETTY ENTERTAINMENT.

An exceedingly attractive entertainment was the "colonial tea and birthday party" given on Tuesday evening at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Worten by the Woman's Missionary society of the First Baptist church. The decorations were exceedingly pretty and effective and emphasized the occasion most patriotically. Flags were used in profusion and a number of old-fashioned candleabra, quaint candlesticks and other old-time ornaments gave a charming effect to the rooms. The receiving party was composed of Rev. and Mrs. George Washington Perryman, the officers of the church and their wives.

A large silk flag in the parlor guarded a pretty tea table where Mrs. Thomas Wilhoite and Mr. Louis Bebout as Martha and George Washington served tea with true colonial style and hospitality.

In the dining room a canopy of red, white and blue hunting from the ceiling covered the walls of the room. The table was effectively decorated in red carnations, and a large bunch of cherries was suspended from the center chandelier. Here ten young ladies and ten young gentlemen in colonial costumes did the honors. A delightful and elaborate luncheon was served. Hatbox souvenirs were given to each guest. A large crowd was present during the evening.

Here the table was effectively decorated in red, white and blue, the colors extending lengthwise of the white cloth, and flags were arranged around the edge. The centerpiece was a candleabra with red and white candles and shades of red, white and blue. The candy table in the hall was provided over by Miss Mabel Rieko and Miss Hallie Hisey.

OUR NEW STORY.

The Sun begins publication today of "The Southerners," a new story by Cyrus Townsend Brady.

Mr. Brady is one of the most gifted and popular of the younger American writers, and his novels always command a big audience. "The Southerners" is his latest story. It has not yet been published in book form, but will be on the 1st of April.

The Sun was very fortunate in securing it for its readers before publication, but to do so had to guarantee that the story would be given in its entirety before that date.

The serial story with newspapers is one of their most popular features, and it has proven so with The Sun. It has ever been our effort to get the very best of fiction, and we believe we have done so. Especially do we think we have found a good story in "The Southerners."

If you have never read any of these stories try "The Southerners," and we believe you will be pleased with it.

BECKHAM PLAYS AT POLITICS.

Governor Beckham has declined to meet either of his opponents for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination on the raging stump. His friends claim that he does not feel any necessity for it, while his opponents assert that he is afraid. Whichever his reason, he seems to feel a security that the other fellows evidently long for but cannot reach. He is conceded by all Democrats to be backed by the "machine," and if this is true the opposition to the machine is necessarily divided between the other two candidates, which is obviously in favor of Beckham, the machine candidate. It seems that the real reason Beckham declined is that he feels so confident of winning that he regards joint debates as entirely superfluous. If he is afraid there, is no reason to be, for, joint debates or no joint debates, his administration will be given the roasting it deserves by the excellent politicians opposing him, in all their speeches. They will in all probability waste an abundance of oratorical ammunition exposing their own party and proving that it has, during Beckham's administration, done just what the Republicans told the people beforehand it would do, and then after the primary be left in the embarrassing predicament of having to support and vote for this same crowd of "politicians, schemers and tyrants," to use a few of the favorite expressions they have already applied to the Beckham crowd.

Beckham, however, has shown himself to be shrewder than any of his opponents. The campaign for the nomination is not to be one in which the victory depends on oratory, logic or mud-slinging, but simply one of the machine against the other fellows. Knowing this, it seems that Beckham has decided to let the other fellows have free rein in their race, and if they butt their heads too hard against

CURES WEAK MEN FREE.

Insure Love and a Happy Home for All

How any man may quickly cure himself after years of suffering from sexual weakness, lost vitality, night losses, varicocele, etc., and enlarge small weak organs to full size and vigor. Simply send your name and address to Dr. Knapp Medical Co., 1619 Hull Building, Detroit, Mich., and they will gladly send free receipt with full directions so that any man may easily cure himself at home. This is certainly a most generous offer and the following extracts taken from their daily mail show what men think of their generosity.

"Dear Sirs—Please accept my sincere thanks for yours of recent date. I have given your treatment a thorough test and the benefit has been extraordinary. It has completely braced me up. I am just as vigorous as when a boy and you cannot realize how happy I am."

"Dear Sirs—Your method worked beautifully. Results were exactly what I needed. Strength and vigor have completely returned and enlargement is entirely satisfactory."

"Dear Sirs—Yours was received and I had no trouble in making use of the receipt as directed, and can truthfully say it is a boon to weak men. I am greatly improved in size, strength and vigor."

All correspondence is strictly confidential, mailed in plain, sealed envelope. The receipt is free for asking and they want every man to have it.

the machine organization it will be their own fault. He will say nothing in opposition to their respective candidates, he declares, and consequently, unlike some of them, will not, even if defeated, be left in the awkward predicament of having to advocate something after the primary that he had ridiculed, roasted and denounced before the primary. With the Louisville Democracy split up, and disaffection all over the state among the Democrats, the Republican continue to rejoice over their prospects.

Mr. W. J. Bryan, judging from his recent utterances in the Commoner, is going to rule or ruin. He does not hesitate to "knock" the only men in the Democratic party who ever won a victory over the Republicans in the past thirty or forty years, and give their administration a much blacker eye than the Republicans ever gave it. He says in the forthcoming issue of his paper: "If the reorganizers obtain control of the party they cannot be trusted to bring about a single reform that the people need. They had their chance under Mr. Cleveland's administration, and they not only failed to accomplish anything for the benefit of the country, but they divided the party and carried into the Republican party all whom they could control. Even the patronage which the reorganizers seem to regard as the principal object of party contention was used to injure the Democratic party and to corrupt those who received official reward. The reorganizers are not willing to harmonize. They have never made a proposition looking toward harmony. They are as implacable today as they were in 1896, and they not only demand what they demanded then, but more too." After warning candidates not to make the race for the Democratic nomination on the presumption that the Kansas City platform will be repudiated, he significantly adds: "The Kansas City platform Democrats will attend the next national convention."

Dyersburg, Tenn., has just won an interesting split, and the result is of importance to every city. In a case where a young man sued for heavy damages for false imprisonment the city won in a walk. It seems that he was charged with taking orders for suits of clothing, and was arrested at the instance of some of the tailors. The mayor fined him $100 and being unable to pay, he was kept in the lockup for ninety days. He sued for damages when he got out, on the ground that the ordinance under which he was fined was unconstitutional and a violation of the interstate commerce law. The court held that the mayor did his duty in imposing the fine, and if the law was unconstitutional the defendant had an opportunity to have it so declared by the courts without waiting until it had been enforced against him and then suing for damages. If the law was unconstitutional there were numerous ways to prevent its being enforced against him, but he did not avail himself of any of them. The Tennessee papers seem to regard the case as quite a precedent, as it will keep certain classes of sharks from having themselves fined under questionable laws, serve their fines and then sue the city for damages.

The Memphis Commercial-Appel flings a few fits over Paducah's theatrical "scandal" and indulges in divers and volubrious observations about bogus theatrical organizations. All this is very well, but our contemporary should remember that this bogus organization would probably have had no existence and there would have been no "scandal" had it not been for Memphis suckers. Swindlers are pretty bad, and there ought to be some way to protect the public from them, but they will flourish like a green bay tree as long as the crop of suckers is large and fools who are soon parted from their money and replace the rate of one a minute. We regret that there are so many mean people in the world—and that some people are foolish, but we fear that this does not justify the Commercial-Appel in using such funny expressions in its sapient sayings as "it interests them as well as we."

A large crowd of representative citizens should tonight assemble at the city hall and listen to the brief talks by Messrs. A. Y. Ford and Clarence Dallam of Louisville. They are making these trips about the state to interest the people in the exhibit our state is going to have at the St. Louis exposition. The legislature refused to make any appropriation for an exhibit, and the responsibility of having an appropriate one is thus left with the people. Mr. Ford is managing editor of the Courier-Journal, and a polished gentleman who will take up only a little time. Mr. Dallam lived here for years and requires no extended introduction. Those who attend the meeting will feel amply repaid. Let's give the visitors a rousing welcome.

The unseating of Butler, Democrat, of Missouri, in congress is a deserved rebuke to the methods practiced by the Democrats in that state. Their Nesbit law is something similar to the former Goebel law, and in addition Butler has been accused of some very ugly things, politically speaking.

$2000 DAMAGES

This is the Amount Mr. Calissi Will Ask.

Claims Quarantine Did Him a Great Deal of Damage.

Mr. R. C. Calissi will through Lightfoot and Yonts file suit against the city Monday for about $2,000 damages for establishing a quarantine at his boarding house in Littleville some time ago on the claim that his daughter, Miss Sylvia, had varioloid or smallpox.

It is said that although the young lady still has fever, and is quite ill, the flag has been taken down and the quarantine raised, which is never done, it is said, while a smallpox patient has fever.

Mr. Calissi stated today that about twenty-two boarders had been driven or kept away by the quarantine, that he had been barred from his own home and his children compelled to remain away, and that he had in addition lost several customers in his beer agency here. Mr. Calissi said he would ask only for actual damages, as near as he could estimate them, and figured it out that it would be about $2,000, but maybe a little more.

Miss Calissi is said by most of the attending doctors to be suffering from rheumatism, and is getting better, but is not able to get out.

CENTRAL BODY OPPOSES.

INDORSED THE ACTION OF THE COUNCIL TAKEN RECENTLY.

Central Labor Union met last night and indorsed the action taken by the council several days ago refusing to grant a right of way over Meyers street for a spur railroad track.

President W. J. White of the central body, stated to a reporter that the resolution passed would be presented to the council at its meeting Monday night. That there were several reasons for the body's indorsement of the council's action, the principal one being that Central Labor Union is opposed to the basket factory's locating here because it is alleged it will employ a cheap class of undestructible labor. The supposition is that the basket factory will not locate here unless the spur track is built.

TOOK POISON

The Doctors Reached Him in Time.

And James McRae Did Not Shuffle Off This Morning.

James McRae, about 20 years old, attempted suicide this morning shortly before noon at the Red Fox saloon, but was pulled through by the efforts of Drs. J. E. Coyle and Jeff D. Robertson.

McRae had been drinking whiskey and using cocaine. It is said, and walked into the saloon and asked bartender R. E. DeBoe for a drink of water, which was given him. He moved to the side of the room and taking a white powder out of his pocket, swallowed it. He returned the empty glass and told the bartender goodbye, saying that he was gone, and staggered for the door, but fell before it was reached. DeBoe had the young man pulled in the saloon again and summoned the physicians, who pumped him out.

McRae is well known here and is a tailor by trade. He has led a roaming life and of late has been rather dissolute in his habits, it is claimed. He was in the city jail some time ago and in some way, it is alleged, got hold of morphine, which he took with suicidal intent. It is the opinion of the physicians that McRae was only making a bluff this time, as he did not take enough to kill him.

SHE WOULD RATHER LEAVE.

Bridget's Natural Objections to Her Employer's Instructions.

A lady requiring a servant determined on having one from the country, consequently she advertised for one that had never been from home before.

Bridget duly arrived, and one evening the lady and her husband agreed to have lobster for tea.

The lady addressed Bridget thus: "Bridget, there is a lobster for tea. Please bring it in undressed." When the bell rang, and Bridget was required to bring in the lobster and tea, she appeared with only one petticoat on.

The gentleman, with hair standing straight on his head, and the lady, with mouth and eyes wide open, exclaimed:

"Bridget, what do you mean by this?"

"Sure, ma'am, you told me to bring in the lobster undressed; but this devil a stitch more I'll take off if I lose the situation."—Liverpool Mercury.

COULDN'T BE BOUGHT.

It happened in the south—not the new south, but the old south, where they lived in the same old way.

The enterprising Yankee thought he saw some "opportunities."

"This looks like good land," he commented.

"It is," replied the native, carelessly.

"But the people here don't make the most of it."

"They don't," admitted the native.

"I could make three times as much out of it as they do."

"You could, if you could get it."

"Can't I get it?"

"Well, hardly."

"Not if I pay twice what it's worth to the present owners?"

"You couldn't buy it for ten times what it's worth to them."

"Why not?"

"Stranger," said the native, wearily, "you don't seem to quite get the bag of things here. If they sold they'd have to move away, wouldn't they?"

"Of course."

"Well, they're too lazy to move."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Champ Clark Taken for a Ride.

Champ Clark of Missouri was taken the other day for a Methuen exhorter. Congressman Clark had just completed a period in an impassioned speech against a claim bill, which he regarded as iniquitous, in appealing to his colleagues to make a record for economy, he said: "Now is the accepted time; now is the day of salvation."

Soon afterward the house adjourned and a thin, little man, hard of hearing, said to him:

"Brother Clark, I come into the gallery just as you extended your invitation to those godless colleagues of yours to lift their feet out of the mire clay. I knew you was a mischief the minute I set eyes on you."

Mr. Clark said something about his duty, and it cost him $3.55 among his friends when the story got out.—New York Tribune.

A FEELING.

GOOD FOOD MAKES IT.

No one so well knows the delicious feeling that comes from being well fed as the one who has suffered and then found food that really would digest and nourish.

Feed the body right and the change. A lady of Latrobe, Penn., writes: "Some years ago I had an attack of nervous prostration and, my vocation of music teacher being very trying, the nervousness affected my digestive organs so much that food could not be eaten without great distress."

"This had been my condition for years. About four years ago I had a heavy cold that went to the weak parts and caused catarrh of the stomach. I took bottle after bottle of medicine, but nothing seemed to help.
"I was always hungry and unsatisfied, but nothing gave me strength, and finally I could not even take a sip of cold water without pain and vomiting. Food distressed me so that I would throw up mouthfuls of slime and mucus."

"Well, I had reached that stage of not caring much to live and still not quite sick enough to die when I finally was induced to try Grape-Nuts.
The food worked like a charm. There was no distress after eating and I felt as if I had a little hold on life. That was the beginning of the end of my sickness. The nervousness gradually left me and I became entirely cured of that dreadful disease, nervous prostration. I soon regained my usual weight and more, and have more color in my cheeks than I have had in years, and I give Grape-Nuts the credit. I could eat them three times a day. They are invaluable to me."

"With a breakfast of Grape-Nuts and cream, a roll, some fruit and a cup of Postum Coffee I feel better and stronger than on any other food and am better able to stand my work."

Orchard, Mich.

Chief Collins is in receipt of a letter from Chief of Detectives J. C. Grannon, of Cincinnati, asking for information as to "Dr. Perkins," the alleged theatrical manager who was supposed to be organizing a company to play "Under Two Flags." He states that a well to do young lady, daughter of a widow, had answered an advertisement and received an answer offering her $30 a week when the company went on the road, and as the detective thought there was something crooked about it, he wrote in order to save her from the clutches of some swindler.
Chief Collins gave the information and the young lady of Cincinnati will doubtless feel quite fortunate when she learns what a narrow escape she had.

morning of a day.
Three years had elapsed since Boyd Peyton had been in Alabama in the month of December.
The young breeze, carrying with it the fragrance of lingering fall as it swept across his face, filled him with surprise, for the season had been unusually pleasant and mild. The air was almost balmy despite its touch of early morning coolness, untimely for the new risen sun, yet there was a freshness in it which reminded him of springtime in New England.
The train on which he had been a passenger had been delayed yesterday, and he had reached home after nightfall—too late to see anything outside, at any rate. Then, in the excitement of seeing his family once more after a long period of separation, he had given no thought to climatic conditions or to anything external to them. Stop!
The statement is hardly accurate, for in not one single moment in all the joyousness of greeting, in all the exuberant affection given and received in his welcome home, had he lost mental sight of Mary Annan. This morning, as he stared down at the garden of roses in winter, his heart was full of her. So conscious of her had he been, in fact, so possessed of a sense of her nearness to him at last, that he had scarcely slept during the night.
In his restless anxiety to see her he had risen before any of the family, who slept later this morning than usual, possibly because they had remained up longer the night before. As soon as he was dressed he came out on the gallery, where he stood gazing alternately upon the roses or staring down through the long avenue of live oaks toward the St. Francis road, which led into the town where she dwelt.
Presently he turned from the railing
and began to pace the gallery.
The young man was a sailor, an officer in the United States navy, a passed midshipman awaiting his commission an ensign, just returned from a three years' cruise in European and north African waters, subsequent to his graduation after four years of study in the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md. He had been appointed to the academy from Alabama seven years before and was now just turned twenty-two. No one could look more unlike the typical bluff sailor than he.
He was tall, slender and brown eyed,
and the native darkness of his complexion, which his seafaring had deepened, with his thick brown hair, worn rather long, as was the fashion of the time, and slightly curling at the ends, would have betrayed him as a southern man anywhere. His appearance was gentle, his aspect dreamy. One would have pronounced him a poet, an artist, a musician—anything rather than a man of action. Without being gloomy there was a touch of gentle melancholy in his appearance.
There was a little timidity—which did not spring from fear—in his address, a deferential modesty, especially when in the presence of women or older men, that was charming, if somewhat lacking in decision. Yet he carried himself well. His movements were easy and graceful. He held his head high and had about him that air of inborn authority peculiar to the southern slave owner and gentleman, which his naval rank and position had served to emphasize.
What he might become in times of stress and danger was yet to be determined; what he was at that moment was quite evident—a dreamer! Like most of the dreams of youth, the object of his imagination was a woman.
Just a year since, his ship, returning from the Mediterranean, had wintered at Boston. When he had arrived there he had rejoiced to learn in letters from home that Mary Annan was attending school in Cambridge. Miss Annan was a young Alabama girl whom he had known from childhood.
He had welcomed with an eagerness only possible to a southerner and a young man the opportunity of renewing his deepening acquaintance with his childhood friend and fair compatriot, and he had striven to make the most of it. Every moment he could take from his ship duties or which she could steal from her not too engrossing studies during the winter the two had spent together in the quaint old Massachusetts town.
The school was described in the catalogue as a "finishing school," a very popular sort of institution in those days and not unknown to history even now. So far as Mary Annan was concerned, its efforts were fruitless. She did indeed graduate from it in June with all the honors of the school, but she was very far from being finished, and he would be a very hardy prophet who could predict what the bright, beautiful and charming southern girl would be in the end. There was latent force in her—plenty of character, energy, self will and greater possibilities—but only the larger school of life could develop her.
A great bosom of war and privation and anguish was then preparing for this country. A period of conflict was to ensue in which the finishing touches that only suffering could add would be put upon the characters of men and women all over the land. For the day

Flexibility of a "Dorothy Dodd"

EASY SOLES

IT IS SAID that the woman who goes to church with squeaky shoes goes to the right place, for her SOLE needs attention. There is really a good deal about the sole of a woman's shoe that needs attention. You realize it if you stop to think how much you relieve the discomfort and "hardness" of shoes by making their soles flexible.

So far as I know (and I have taken pains to examine many different makes of shoes) the "Dorothy Dodd" is the one shoe for women that is really constructed with a flexible sole.

You can tell the difference as soon as a few steps have been taken. It means comfort. And a flexible sole, as a rule, will outlast any rigid sole—don't overlook that!
